Time to burn rubber

Racing fans will rejoice this coming Labor Day as some of the biggest racing action of the year arrives at California Speedway. We highlight the two big days of racing on page 8. Understandably, this event may get you itching to try your own hand at burning up a track. Before you hock your home to buy a high-performance car and pit crew, you'll be happy to hear that kart racing has arrived in the Inland Empire to answer your prayers. Kart racing is the "little league" of auto racing and is so accessible even children can do it. For more on where you can get strapped in, see our article starting on page 9.

You may notice that we've added a few new sections to this issue: "For the Kids" and "Golf." We are responding to reader requests with more information on what you want. Look for these sections to grow in the future. If you want to put in your two-cents, fill out our reader response form on page 11. You may even win a free subscription to IER!

As usual, have a good time this month!

Ren Faire a 'Queenly' event

Travel back in time to a period of lively people, music and merriment at the 20th Annual Renaissance Arts Festival in Long Beach.

The Festival takes place at the Queen Mary Special Events Park, located adjacent to the Queen Mary in Downtown Long Beach on Saturday and Sunday, August 28 and 29 from 10 am to 6 pm.

The Festival is a good opportunity to get out of town and try to beat the summer Inland Empire heat. Lords and Ladies will step back in time to the reign of Queen Elizabeth I of England, a time of pageantry and merriment.

There is much to do and see at the Renaissance Festival. Be there for an historical weekend with Elizabeth the 1st, Queen of England, her Royal Court, and people from the entire known world. Be part of the pageantry, taste traditional foods, feel the heat of battles between the encampments. Watch artisans and crafts people recreate the feeling of living in that time, hear the music and watch live entertainment. Shop the vendors for unique and exotic wares of that period. Lose yourself to another time, another place, if only for awhile.

Tickets are $12 for Adults, $9 for Seniors 55+, $7 for Children 5 to 12 and Children under 5 are free. Advance sale tickets are available for $9 a day, or $17 for the weekend by calling (562) 438-9903.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the Long Beach AIDS Food Store. Two non-perishable food items brought to the Festival will give $2 off admission price of adults and seniors. Plenty of parking adjacent to the event is available; there is an $8 parking fee.

For more information, see their website at www.lbrenaissanceartsfest.com.

August is the Right Time to Take the Beach Train

The June gloom is now a distant memory. The hottest days of the summer are upon us and taking a break by taking in the cool waves of the Pacific is the perfect way to spend a summer weekend day. Better yet, there is an alternative to fighting traffic on the 91 Freeway and searching for a parking spot.

The alternative is to take the Beach Train, which is offered by the Riverside County Transportation Commission (RCTC). The Beach Train will run every Saturday and Sunday between Aug. 1 and Aug. 22. Additional trains will run on Sept. 18, Sept. 25, Oct. 2 and Oct. 3. The round-trip fare is $16 for adults and $11 for kids under 16.

"The train itself is an attraction for many people because it allows people to socialize and make new friends," said RCTC Executive Director Eric Haley.

"That's especially true when the train is headed to the beach on a warm summer day."

In addition to providing summer recreation trips, Haley also hopes that positive experiences on the Beach Train will convince people to take the train during the week too.

"For many people the Beach Train offers the first opportunity to take a train in Southern California," said Haley. "Once people take the train to the Beach, they start considering whether they can take the train to work too."

MetroLink commuter train service, which provides its trains to RCTC for the Beach Train, offers commuter service from San Bernardino and Riverside Counties to Los Angeles and Orange Counties. Stations in Orange and Los Angeles Counties are located next to major worksites and can provide an attractive alternative to fighting freeway traffic.

For more information on MetroLink, check out www.metrolinktrains.com or call

Labor Day Racing

NASCAR racing heats up at California Speedway

This Labor Day weekend is sure to get your engine revving, thanks to a weekend of racing at the California Speedway.

The NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series roars into the Speedway for the Inaugural "Finish Under the Lights" Pop Secret 500 on Sunday, September 5. Also racing at the superspeedway is the NASCAR Busch Series in the Target House 300 on Saturday, September 4.

This is the second NASCAR race ever held in a single-season at California Speedway and the first time the Inland Empire has seen two NASCAR races in one year since 1987, one year before Riverside International Raceway closed.

The Labor Day weekend festivities at California Speedway are a high-speed thrill ride, whether you're a racing aficionado or not. NASCAR stars like Jeff Gordon, Dale Earnhardt Jr. and Southern Californian Jimmie Johnson will compete in the 43-car field for 500 miles in their pursuit for the 2004 NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series Championship.

These races are popular, so don't delay in getting your ticket. Since the speedway opened in 1997, each race has sold out. More than 120,000 people watch NASCAR's premier series take to the 2-mile, D-shaped oval. It's a race right down to the wire with 500-miles of adrenaline-pumping action.

This year, you can join seven-time NASCAR Cup champion Richard Petty as he serves as Grand Marshal for the Pop Secret 500. Saturday's action will feature the Busch race and the Miller Lite Rock 'n Racing Concert.

Also, make sure you come out for the first ever "Fontana Race Week," featuring driver appearances.

California Speedway, "America's Ultimate Race Place," features 92,000 grandstand seats and camping in 1,800 infield reserved RV spaces. NASCAR, IRL, AMA, GrandAmerican and Historics compete at the speedway annually.

The speedway is home to racing action all year-round, not just during the big events. With nearly 300 calendar days of track activity, there aren't too many "off" days. The facility remains busy with a variety of track rentals from driving schools to test sessions to club events. The speedway's road courses have benefited a number of local racing organizations from motorcycles to sports cars, giving them a premier facility to compete or test their skills on. In addition, the speedway has been featured in a number of commercials, photo shoots and Hollywood movies – most recently "NASCAR 3D: The IMAX Experience."

California Speedway is an economic stronghold in Fontana and the Inland Empire. According to an economic study, the entire impact of the speedway's events and daily operations in 2003 totaled $135.7 million, with approximately $84.7 million coming from a single NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series weekend. R

THRILL

So, you want to be a race car driver ...

The roar of the engines, the smell of burning rubber, the thrill of speed ... experiencing NASCAR racing at the California Speedway this Labor Day weekend may be enough to get you thinking, "Yeah, I could do that."

Before you run off and hire a pit crew, however, you may want to check your options. The Inland Empire offers numerous opportunities for you to satisfy your racing cravings.

Kart racing isn't your traditional go-cart, however. Attaining speeds of up to 100mph, modern kart racing is considered the "minor leagues" of NASCAR racing, offering a similar feel but with greater safety and at an affordable price.

Racers at Adams Kart Track in Riverside.

Most of their go-kart racing was done near home in Southern California and, by their own admission, the go-kart years were some of their best years of racing.

Moran Raceway is over a mile long and is constructed of an asphalt surface at 29 feet wide. The track has a wide variety of low, medium, and high speed corners with an emphasis on high speed. Fall Fest celebrates in Big Bear

Labor Day weekend traditionally rounds-out the summer season in Southern California's high country. The Fall Festival is the annual rite of passage from summer to fall in the mountain community of Big Bear Lake and celebrates the end of summer and the kick-off to fall. A mobile zoo coming to you

Northern California's loss is the Inland Empire's gain. Art and Nancy True enjoyed over 12 years of success with their mobile zoo service in Northern California. Then, they decided to "slow the pace down" and relocated to the Palm Springs area, specifically Sky Valley.

But they brought with them their experience and their life-long love of animals.

Their Zoo 4U, a mobile zoo, has become a party favorite for any special occasion, including birthdays, churches, schools and corporate events. The "zoo" currently consists of chickens, rabbits, ducks, goats, a pot-bellied piglet, Florida tortoise, frogs, snakes and lizards. In addition to the petting portion of their business, they also give one-hour educational lectures.

The Zoo 4U mobile unit has air conditioning and lighting for any weather or time. For information, call 760-288-4455.

Sawdust and Families

Art festival offers family fun

The annual Sawdust Art Festival in Laguna Beach has created a new venue this year, just for kids. The Family Fun Day on August 24, will feature a special line up of entertainment and art activities geared towards families with children.

Family Fun Day entertainment includes Heebie and Jeebie of Cox 3's "Kurtoon Time" performing their special brand of musical-comedy. Balloon Diva April Strong will roam the festival delighting children of all ages with her whimsical balloon creations. Stop and listen to the bluegrass sounds of Foxfire, a band whose members are all teen-aged siblings. Enjoy the acrobatic antics of The Scarlet Sisters, Marlene Hutchinson's Musical Storytime and Cynthia Artish's melodious harp music. Laguna Beach's Evren Ozan, a 12-year old Native American flute-playing prodigy, will also perform.

There will be complimentary children's art activities at the Children's Art Booth and Ceramics Space, where children receive one-on-one instruction at the potter's wheel. For just $5, the Sawdust staff will glaze and fire your child's masterpiece.

Special complimentary classes offered at the Sawdust's Multi-Media Art Space include:

When class is not in session blind embossing techniques will be taught by the Sawdust staff.

El Monte woman wins Athens Olympic vacation

Maria Pineda already had passport in hand when Fantasy Springs Resort Casino Chief Operating Officer Joe DeRosa phoned her Monday evening (July 5) at her El Monte residence with the news that she had been chosen as the winner of an all-expenses paid dream trip for two to next month's Summer Olympic Games in Athens, Greece.

As part of its six-week Athens Summer Games Giveaway promotion for Club Fantasy player's club card holders, Fantasy Springs was awarding one lucky player with the trip that includes round-trip airfare, luxury lodging on the Queen Mary II, tickets for six days of Olympic competition including the opening ceremonies and the beauty and lure of Ancient Greece. Fortunately for the Pinedas, contest rules did not require that the winner be present to claim the prize.

Pineda, 60, who works in quality control for a paper bag manufacturer, and her husband, Fred, 66, a retired electrician and mechanic, recently secured the passports to prepare for a weekend getaway in Baja.

"We're so excited about winning this dream vacation," said Fred Pineda, who spoke to casino officials by phone because his wife was too excited to speak. "We can't wait to see the Olympic Games and tour Athens to experience the history of Greece."

Fred Pineda admitted the couple had never previously won a prize of any significance, but were hoping to change their luck by securing entries in the contest.

Latin Music Festival comes to San Bernardino

San Bernardino is gearing up for a big day of music as the Latin Music Festival comes to town, Sept. 18, at Arrowhead Credit Union Park.

This is a full-day festival with food, refreshments, concession stands and lots of music, from CDs and memorabilia vendors to live concerts from MALO, Jorge Santana, Chico/The Village Callers, The East LA Revue, Mickey Lespron, Cauldron, and The Best of Everything.

General admission is $25, with Special Seating admission at $40 available through Ticket Master. The special seating includes a padded seat, directly in front of the stage, a dance floor next to seating, and beverage and refreshment servers.

The Fender Center in Corona donated a Fender Stratocaster guitar, which will be autographed by Jorge Santana and raffled at the festival. The winner need not be present and tickets at $2 each will be available during the event and at the Fender Center. All proceeds from this raffle will be donated to the Kids Rock Free organization at the Fender Center.

The Latin Music Festival will be filmed for a documentary during the concerts. Be part of history as the original members of The Village Callers perform their hits, including "Hector," on stage for the first time in 35 years.

GETTING HEALTHY

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following are articles in our ongoing Summer series of weight-loss success stories.

Just six short weeks ago I never would have thought I could accomplish what I have. Thanks to Chris and the Curves Challenge I have lost almost 15 pounds and numerous inches and my clothes fit me once again. I am on the right road to being thin again.

Until six years ago, I had been thin all my life. Then, I experienced several back-to-back life changing events and I began to eat as a way to deal with the stress. I "learned" how to comfort myself with food. I continued to "nurture" myself with food until I weighed more than I could imagine.

The day after Chris opened her Downtown Riverside Curves I joined. For almost 1 1/2 years I exercised regularly at Curves and learned how to incorporate exercise into my daily life. I didn't lose much weight; I still had not learned how to control my eating. I am a Registered Dietician and I knew how to lose weight and keep it off. Why couldn't I?

When Chris announced the first Curves Challenge, I jumped at the chance to join. I signed up but the closer the start date came the more anxious I became. During the five days prior to the "Big Challenge" I psyched myself up using a lot of positive self-talk: "You can do this, Laurie. You have accomplished much in your life; you will be able to accomplish this, too. You want to succeed bad enough, you will be successful!"

And, I have been successful, thanks to Michelle and Chris and my Curves Challenge buddies. During the Weekly Lesson #5 I had a revelation. I learned that to be truly happy and able to cope with life's challenges and be successful at losing weight and keeping it off, I had to learn how to nurture myself in meaningful ways that lead to high self-esteem and self-actualization. I had to find positive ways to "nurture" myself rather than relying on food as temporary "nourishment." I finally realized that I must do the following nurturing activities every day: read my "Daily Affirmation" out loud every morning; put my needs ahead of others' for awhile; do something nice for myself; share my feelings and needs with my family and friends; remind myself of what I am thankful for and always let God be there for me; take a walk outside and enjoy the nature around me when I am stressed and feel the urge to eat.

Lisa Souza joined Curves in Oct. of 2003. She started out wanting to lose weight and become healthier. Little did she know where this path would take her. She at first focused on just the fitness part and lost six pounds and 8 inches. She then decided that working out just wasn't enough, so she joined Curves' "You've Got the Power" weight loss challenge.

Lisa has now participated in two six-week Challenges and is planning on a third this fall. With her hard work and Curves fitness and weight loss programs she has now lost a total of 31 pounds and 37.5 inches. But she hasn't stopped there.

Lisa still has her own personal goal of losing 30 more pounds, but now she is a Curves staff member and is inspiring others to reach their goals as well.

Congratulations, Lisa!
